AIRCRAFT PROBE TO BE PRESSED

Intimation of Important Developments Voiced by Administration Officials.

HOUSE TAKES A HAND

Baker Defends Liberty Motors Evidence Tends to Substantiate Borglum's Charges.

(International News Service.) Washington, May 14 .- The congressional aircraft investigation struck new snags today, and signs of a bitter fight over its scope mul-

Senator Thompson, of Kansas, chairman of the committee on audit and control, having charge of the Chamberlain resolution giving broad powers to the military affairs committee to conduct the inquiry, made an engagement to confer with President Wilson this afternoon and learn the administration's wishes in the matter.

When this became known there was ncreased impatience in congress over the delay in opening the investigation.

the delay in opening the investigation. The military affairs committee held up all plans pending the adoption of the resolution. Members took the view that there was no reason why the ad-ministration's permission to make the investigation should be asked.

(International News Service.) Washington, May 14.-Broad Intimations of important developments in the aircraft muddle were voiced today by administration officials. They refused to give any indication of what the developments are, but let it be known that they might be bared in the very near future.

An investigation for the expenditures of the hundreds of millions appropriated by congress for aircraft propriated by congress for aircraft production by a special committee of the house seemed imminent when Chairman Dooling called a meeting of the war expenditures committee to consider the Swift resolution.

Representative Swift of New York, author of the resolution, was ready to present a mass of evidence he has gathered in an independent investigation which he believed would tend to substantiate Gutzon Borglum's charges of graft and profiteering in aircraft production. His resolution, however, calls merely for "an audit and a report to the house."

Chairman Dooling has let it be known that he will vote with the re-publicans to report out the Swift resolution and when this is done the investigation is assured. There will be little opposition, even by the adinistration's strongest supporters, on the floor to its passage.

Coincident with Chairman Dooling's call, members of the military affairs committee received letters from Sec-Liberty motor. The text of the letter was kept secret, but it was known to give a complete defense of the much dvertised mechanism.

Secretary Baker asserted that the motor was not, in fact, the Packard tor made over. He said the criticism that had been made of it was not altogether justified, since the motor served excellently for planes of the heavier type. He gave in detail the history of each part, showing that many parts were developed from those of a German Mercedes engine. Baker admitted, however, that for the lighter combat planes the Liberty motor was not adapted.

FIRST MILLION TONS OF SHIPS PUT ON HIGH SEAS

Total 159 Vessels Completed and Delivered Under Direction Shipping Board.

(Associated Press.) Washington, May 14.-The first million tons of ships completed and delivered to the government under the direction of the shipping board have been put on the high seas to help defeat Germany.

A total of 159 vessels of 1,108,621 tons was completed up to May 11, according to statistics compiled by ex-perts of the shipping board. Since Jan. I, more than half of the total tonnage, 667,896, has been delivered, and the monthly totals have shown a steady

Most of the ships delivered were requisitioned on the ways or in con-tract form, when the United States entered the war. Virtually all are of steel construction. None of the ships of the great wood program has been delivered, although forty-six have been launched, due to delay in obtaining boilers and other machinery. The first completed wood ship built on contract for the government now is undergoing trials off the Pacific coast.

Eight steel ships totalling 48,-150 tons were completed during the seven days ending May 11. Fourteen vessels were launched with a total tonnage of 57,100, of which seven were steel with a total capacity of 31,100 tons.

The steel deliveries included one rigerator ship, two tankers and five cargo vessels. The state of Maine during the week turned out its first wooden ship for the government, the Andra, a 3,500-ton vessel built at Portland.

AMERICAN NAVAL FORCE OF AID TO BRITISH FLEET

London, May 14.—James Wilson, chairman of the American labor delegation, at a dinner at the house of commons last night, given to the delegates by the Federation of Trades Unions, reiterated the determination of American labor to support the president, congress and the allied peoples until freedom was won, not only for the allies, but for the people of Germany themselves. He said the fight (Associated Press.) themselves. He said the fight should go on until the world was rid of militarism for all time.

At the beginning of the war, Mr. Wilson said, the labor movement in America had invited the labor movements of the world to a conference to consider eventual terms of peace. The reply of the German labor leaders was a refusal to participate.

Greetings From New Zealand. John P. Frey, of the American delegation, proposed a toast to the cause of democracy. GERMANS TAKING TIME FOR NEW STROKE—ALLIED AIRMEN ACTIVE

(Associated Press.)

(Associated Press.)

Committed, as they are, to a continuation of heavy fighting on the western front, the Germans apparently are taking their full time before beginning another forward operation on the line from Soissons north to the Belgian coast.

In two weeks the enemy has made only one determined attack and this was repulsed by the allied forces southwest of Ypres.

Along the vital sectors of the sallents driven by the Germans since March 21 the enemy artillery has been active, but there are no signs of renewed infantry activity in strength. North of Kemmel, around Serre, on the line between Albert and Arras, and on the southern end of the British line across the Somme and on the French sector immediately south the German big guns are hurling thousands of shells into the allied positions.

Allied airmen are taking advantage Allied airmen are taking advantage of every opportunity to invade enemy territory. Many more tons of bombs have been dropped on important railway centers and other military targets behind the German lines in Flanders and Picardy. In aerial fighting the British have brought down six more enemy machines. While British naval airmen bomb the German submarine bases at Zeebrugge and Ostend, army filers continue the aerial bombardment of Brugges.

West of Montdidier, in Picardy, and northwest of Toul, America's artillery-men are harassing the Germans with a heavy fire. Considerable damage is believed to have been caused on both

The announcement from Ottawa that the American army was not to be employed fully against the Germans until it was a complete organization, it is declared in London, was due to an error, which has been corrected.

Lively fighting continues in the Monte Corno region, south of Asiago, with the Italians throwing back re-peated Austrian efforts to regain the summit of the mountain. Elsewhere on the Italian front the artillery due goes on, but there are no indications that the enemy is ready to start his heralded attack.
